

been laid down in compliance with the city ordinance regarding plumbing.

No Nearer Truth.

The chairman of the committee, Mr. Phillips, if it was within his experience that an architect would ever complain of piping after it had been laid, or only before it had been placed, Mr. Phillips replied that he had had very little trouble along that line, but that he had an architect friend who had made alterations after the pipes had been laid. He said that the pipes laid by Mr. Rosa had been placed according to the requirements of the city ordinance, which says that the pipe shall be standard, that it shall be laid above ground, and that it must be extra heavy when broken up or placed under ground.

"I contend that you are not entitled to use standard pipe," said Mr. Bryant. He then asked Mr. Rose what right he had to use this material without first consulting him, the architect. Mr. Rose replied that he had complied with the specifications and with the plumbing ordinance of Richmond.

MR. JOHN E. ROSE, Mayor of Barton Heights, who was attacked by Architect Bryant before the Board of Supervisors of Henrico county yesterday.

The entire affair, as stated, resolved itself into an accusation and denial by the one party and the other, and at the end of the session, which had lasted from 11:30 in the morning until after 5 o'clock in the afternoon, with a short recess for lunch, the committee had arrived no nearer to the truth than in the beginning. Mr. Bryant said that he was not prepared to substantiate his charges, as he had thought the meeting set for a week later. Then, wishing to sift the matter to the bottom, the board gave Mr. Bryant a week in which to arrange the proofs of his charges. In the meantime Mr. Rose will proceed with his plumbing work with the promise that, if it is found unsatisfactory and not in compliance with the plans and specifications, he will make the required changes. The meeting was then adjourned until next Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Bryant says that he can prove his contention on that date, and the affair promises to develop into something of a sensation. Both sides appear equally confident of the result.

JAIL PRISONERS TO CLEAN STREETS

Petersburg Decides to Make Use of Worthless Characters Who Fill Her Prison.

BEGGS TO SEE DEAD WIFE

Boarch Given Preliminary Hearing and Goes to Grand Jury. His Plea Not Granted.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

PETERSBURG, VA., January 2.—The City Council this evening passed an ordinance offered by Charles R. Walsh, authorizing the city engineer to use prisoners in the jail as laborers on streets and other public works. An ordinance providing for the similar employment of street beggars, habitual drunkards and other worthless characters was referred to the Police Commission. The City Engineer's report showed a cash balance in the jail of $187.85, an increase of nearly $80,000 since January 1, 1906. Receipts for December amounted to $73,323.23; expenditures, $25,270.17.

The salary of Chief E. V. Farley, of the Fire Department, was raised from $1,000 to $1,200, and an increase of $5 per month was made in the salaries of firemen, excepting the volunteers. The sum of $1,750 was appropriated for the improvement of roadways in Blauvelt Cemetery. Other appropriations were $1,000 for the purchase of book-fires for the office of the clerk of the courts. The salary of the clerk of the markets was raised from $80 to $100 a year. On motion of C. W. Hand, the Council referred to the Board of Public Works the Board's December bill for city lights until the promised higher candle power street lamps were installed.

The Board of Aldermen's $3,800 appropriation for improving West End Park lake was not concurred in, and a committee of conference thereon will be held. A resolution was passed providing for the monthly payment of $25 to the Petersburg Grays for armory rent. Alexander Hamilton's resignation from the public school has been accepted. Charles Hall Davis's resignation from that board was accepted, on motion of his brother, Councilman H. B. Davis.

Poarch Goes to Jury.

Emmett Poarch, who killed his wife, had a preliminary hearing before Mayor Jones this morning, and was sent on to the Huston court for trial. A new fact was brought out by the re-examination this morning of the same witnesses who testified at the coroner's inquest last night. Poarch was ignorant of his wife's death until he was brought from jail to the police station, where a warrant charging him with murder was served. He was and begged to be allowed to see the body of his dead wife, a request which was not granted. It is understood that on the day of the shooting, Mrs. Poarch told her husband in the presence of a third party that she would never again be with him, and he failed to provide for her and took no care of her.

Colonel Daniel Nagle, president of the "Survivors' Association, Forty-eighth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry," and Mr. Robert A. Reid, secretary, are in the city, preparing for the erection of a monument near Fort Mahone, in Prince George county, in memory of the colonel of the Forty-eighth Pennsylvania, who was killed while charging the Confederates works during the siege of Petersburg. The monument is to be a granite shaft, surmounted by a bronze figure. The unveiling of the monument, which is to take place in May, will be made by a great occasion, and the veterans propose to have the Governors of Pennsylvania and Virginia present.

P. A. Potter, formerly Petersburg agent of the Southern Air Line Railway, has been transferred to Hamlet, N. C., an important railroad transfer point. H. R. Goulder, who was Mr. Potter's chief clerk, has been made agent, with H. E. Goodwin as chief clerk.

Officers of the Eagles.

Petersburg Aerie of Eagles has installed the following officers: First Worthy President, James W. Wynn; Second President, Charles R. Walsh; Worthy Vice-President, James A. Wesson; Chaplain, Charles L. Morris; Secretary, James B. Tallaferr; Conductor, J. B. Andrews; Treasurer, George F. Newsom; Trustee, Charles T. Lassiter.

The public schools of this city opened to-day, after the usual Christmas holiday. Four negro prisoners were taken from the Petersburg jail to Sussex Courthouse this morning by Sheriff Deane, of Sussex. Casey and James Parker, brothers, who had been arrested and William Burge, for murder, Alonzo Jones has been held as a witness. The prisoners were sent here for safe-keeping.

Fines collected in the Mayor's Court during the month of December, not including the fine imposed by the court and collected later. Two hundred and ninety-four dollars during December is the largest amount for any one month; $72.50, for May, the smallest.

WILL RECOMMEND MANY CHANGES

Subcommittee on Relief of Poor Will Urge Radical Reforms at Once.

WILL MAKE A REPORT TO-DAY

City's Wood Famine Continues, But Contractor Is Endeavoring to Get Fuel.

The subcommittee of the Council Committee on Relief of the Poor, which for two months, has been engaged in an exhaustive inquiry into the operation of the City House and Hospital in all its details, will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock to formulate its report. The session will be executive, but the report will be made public at a meeting of the full committee at night. The discussion of the subject promises to be lively in the committee, as some of the recommendations, it is understood, propose radical changes. Just what these changes are cannot be ascertained in advance. It is known, however, that nothing in the nature of a scandal or a sensation was discovered and that the recommendations relate to the economics and better system, and more stringent regulations governing the various employees of the House.

The report will be given to the full committee this evening, and will be discussed and adopted by that body. The meeting in the full committee will be public, and the report and record of testimony taken at the secret hearings will also be given to the public. Dr. Ennion G. Williams, chairman of the subcommittee, and one of the most valuable and efficient workers in the Council, will present the report.

The City's Wood Famine.

In the matter of the failure of the City House to secure sufficient wood to supply the winter needs of the outside poor, it appears that the one hundred cords of wood ordered purchased by the committee had been delivered to the City House, the contractor for furnishing wood. His contract was for wood at $5 per cord, and he stated to the committee that he had been able to secure the wood, but had not been able to get the transportation to deliver it for him. He agreed to pay the difference between the contract price and what the wood cost the city. Of the five hundred cords contracted for, only twenty-five had been delivered when Superintendent Davis informed the committee of the situation. Later, Mr. Davis informed Mr. Gunst that he thought he knew where he could get a hundred cords or more of good fuel wood, and Mr. Gunst informed the committee that he had secured one hundred cords, which would probably be able to get more. It is understood that the wood he has secured will cost him $5.50 per cord, or $1.50 more than the price at which he contracted to furnish it.

Usually at this season of the year the city has been able to secure a sufficient quantity of wood for its needs, but the difficulties of transportation and others have delayed the matter and made it practically impossible to secure the fuel. The Committee on Relief of the Poor, authorized the purchase of two hundred tons of split coal at $4.50 per ton, and subsequently directed the purchase of two hundred tons additional at the same price.

The Times-Dispatch was mistaken in stating that Mr. Ellis had secured the purchase of two hundred tons of split coal at $4.50 per ton, and subsequently directed the purchase of two hundred tons additional at the same price.

DAY OF MEETINGS.

Committees Have Busy Time, But Do No Striking Work.

Yesterday was a day of committee meetings at the City Hall, five being held in the afternoon or evening in addition to a number of meetings in the morning. In most cases the approval of pay-rolls and bills, and the work of the committees. The Subcommittee of the Committee on Streets met in the City Engineer's office.

Alleged Robber UNDER ARREST AND IS NOW IN CITY JAIL

doing the train he was on before he reached his destination, as the man who played the La Crosse trick evidently did.

When the officers placed Cox under arrest, they did not ask him about the La Crosse matter, but tried to get him to give some satisfactory account of his recent whereabouts. On this subject he floundered considerably, and finally said he had been connected with a Chinese laundry in Norfolk.

The crime of train-robbing in Virginia is punishable by death, out from eleven to eighteen years in the penitentiary, at the discretion of the jury.

The law was made thus drastic by the Legislature, which met after the daring hold-up at Aquia Creek, of which Morganfield and Seagraves were convicted, and for his part in which the former is now rounding out his term.

The sheriff of Mecklenburg will be here for Cox to-day, and a speedy trial of the case is expected.

Denies Charge.

Cox, or Andrews, was seen in his cell at the City Jail last night. When questioned with the fact that he was talking with a reporter, he became very uncommunicative, and it was only by persistent questions that he was persuaded to say anything regarding the charge against him.

"I am a waiter and a cook by profession," he said, "and I can prove that. I have been in Norfolk for two weeks."

PRINCE'S POOR FIANCEE CALLS BLUFF OF BRITAIN'S KING

LADY MARJORIE MANNER AND PRINCE ARTHUR. Young Couple Who Outwitted the Prince's Uncle, Edward VII, Who Opposed Their Marriage.

King Edward Thaws When Girl Threatens to Sell Lingerie for Dowry.

LONDON, January 2.—The inner court circles are laughing so heartily over the shrewd move of the young Prince Arthur of Connaught in his love affairs that the echoes of the laughter have reached the outer circles, and this is what they hear: When his nephew told the King that he was in love with and wanted to marry pretty Marjorie Harriet Manners, there were two reasons why the Duke of Devonshire, the Prince's uncle, strongly objected to the match.

ONE REASON, GOOD REASON.

In the first place the King has always cordially disliked the girl's mother, now the Duchess of Rutland, but better known as the Marchioness of Granville. The King is said to have a great dislike for the young man's father, is poor, the drafts on the King's purse for his relative's needs are large, and the monarch hoped that his nephew would have arranged a money-making match. The second reason, however, was that the King declined to answer. The query of how long he had been in Virginia also failed to elicit a reply.

"I got to Richmond about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and was sitting down out there near that place, I believe they call Acca, when a man arrested me. A young fellow was along with me at the time, but they turned him loose. They brought me to the jail about 9 o'clock to-night," he continued, after some time.

Andrews, if that be his name—and he says his name is J. C. Andrews and his home in Canada is a man perhaps six feet tall, is a splendidly built man, and an ordinary man would have a hard time in a rough and tumble match with him. He has square jaws, a high forehead and a wealth of black hair. His eyes are blue and his nose is pointed yet large. He speaks with a decided Southern accent. His appearance and his manner in the cell would suggest that he had been imprisoned before and knew what to do under the circumstances.

"Do you know the name of a good lawyer in the city?" he asked the reporter.

The names of several prominent criminal lawyers were furnished him and he pondered for a while. "Which is the best of them?" he asked to-night.

A selection was made as best could be by the reporter, and then "Andrews" stretched himself on the floor after he was arrested, and when he was identified positively by the porter and the conductor of the train, it is thought, work was made plain to the detective. He was taken to the City Jail, where he will offer in evidence such testimony as, he says, will be beyond contradiction.

The Committee on Markets and on Cemeteries met at 4:30 and 5:30 P. M. respectively, to-day. The Markets Committee met at the Old Market and the Cemeteries Committee met at the City Hall. The Markets Committee met at the Old Market and the Cemeteries Committee met at the City Hall.

The Committee on Light and Street Cleaning met last night before and after the Council meeting, but their proceedings consisted of the merest routine. The subject of importance was introduced or renewed, the recommendation of the Council to the purchase of a new site of the market as a location for their association building. Nothing further than a view of the site was taken, and the committee adjourned without making any recommendation, but will take the matter up at a later meeting. A great many men have been petitioning for the purchase of property by the Y. M. C. A., but several members of the committee are opposed to it.

The Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform will meet to-night in the Council chamber to give a final hearing on the burning issue of the abattoir, as to which some recommendation to the Council is to be formulated. Delegations from the Chamber of Commerce, a business men's meeting and other organizations and many individual property-owners will be present to oppose the recommendation of the ordinance, which would place the abattoir in the city. The petitioners will be presented by opponents. The meeting is sure to attract a great crowd, and an animated discussion, as considerable feeling has been aroused by the petition of the abattoir, which will probably continue until midnight or later.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Costs Nothing To Try.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the best and most effective disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purposes. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug, but simply a natural food, and it is present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat; from the system of eating, it cleanses the system. All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal is that which is made from the St. Louis Charcoal Lozenges. They are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and some liquid hydrocarbon flows. The result is that the smoke is entirely suppressed, while the filter yields a gas of great heating power, which can be used for domestic purposes and for driving gas engines. The filtering material itself also becomes a good combustible during the process.—Chicago Journal.

Profit From Smoke.

In Brussels, Malines and other Belgian towns a novel method of not only getting rid of smoke but turning it into good account has recently been employed. The smoke is driven by a ventilating fan into a filter filled with porous material, over which a continuous stream of petroleum, benzine, alcohol, or some liquid hydrocarbon flows. The result is that the smoke is entirely suppressed, while the filter yields a gas of great heating power, which can be used for domestic purposes and for driving gas engines. The filtering material itself also becomes a good combustible during the process.—Chicago Journal.
